

YOUR CAREER WITH US

Become part of our team and grow with us and along with your tasks.

Internship M&A and Debt Advisory (f/m/d) Energy & Infrastructure

Location Hamburg

Capcora is a Frankfurt based M&A and Corporate Finance boutique specialized on real assets. We are currently increasing our firepower in the energy & infrastructure division and are looking for an intern for our new office in Hamburg for at least 6 months. Become part of a small, powerful team and support us in our rapid growth in an exciting business area. We offer you the opportunity to gain detailed insights into origination and execution of M&A processes and finance transactions in ground-breaking solar PV or onshore wind projects across Europe.

Your tasks

- Participating in the execution of national and international M&A projects as well as Corporate Finance transactions - from the preparation phase through due diligence process to closing stage
- Performing market and corporate research tasks, strategy analysis and validation of project planning
- Contributing to develop investment and financing concepts as well as developing sophisticated financial models/discounted cash flow valuations/scenario analysis
- Creating key marketing and commercial documents (teasers, information memorandum and reports)
- Screening and research of new and existing market participants (investors and lenders)

Your skills

- You are graduate or have completed at least the third semester of a bachelor's degree in economic sciences, engineering, natural sciences, computer science, law, or a comparable degree programme
- You have high affinity for analytical tasks
- Ideally you gained initial experience in the Corporate Finance, M&A or Renewable Energy sector
- In addition to very good German and English language skills, you have good user knowledge of Microsoft Office products, especially Excel and PowerPoint
- You enjoy working in a team and carrying out your tasks reliably, independently and with a great level of motivation
- You are communicative, resilient, and flexible in terms of working hours

Are you ready for a new challenge? Then we are looking forward to your detailed application. Please send your application with your earliest starting date and the duration of your assignment to hamburg@capcora.com. Andreas Bodensohn (+49 171 207 19 60) will be pleased to answer any questions.
